

Telebehavioral Health Training for Certification

September 13-14, 2019, 9:30 a.m. - 7 p.m.

Cleveland State University, Fenn Tower Ballroom
1983 E 24th St, Cleveland, OH 44115 GOOGLE MAP

Presented by the National Association of Social Workers - Ohio Chapter, Ohio Counselors Association, Cleveland State University, and Telebehavioral Health Institute.

15 CEUs for social workers, counselors, marriage & family therapists, and psychologists (includes ethics). REGISTER HERE

Attendees will enjoy an invigorating two-day training that provides an in-depth look at the theoretical bases for telebehavioral / telehealth, and prepares licensed professionals for application for the Telebehavioral Health Professional (TBH) Certification.

Designed with engaging teaching methods, this program outlines best practice issues, including how to legally practice over state lines; informed consent; intakes and assessment; privacy and confidentiality; record keeping; mandated reporting; federal laws, including HIPAA and HITECH Act, as well as state-based privacy, confidentiality and security laws. Topics also include diversity; safety protocols; preventing and handling emergencies; referrals; triage; and assigning apps. Reimbursement and technology choices for video, email, text messaging and telephones will be covered. Legal and ethical online marketing through social media and online practice management will also be covered in detail. Ample opportunity will be created for attendees to ask questions. Over 1,000 peer-reviewed books and journal article references will be available.

Certification: For an additional $100, payable to the Telebehavioral Health Institute (bring a check to the event), a certification as a Telebehavioral Health Professional (TBH) from the Coalition for Technology in Behavioral Science can be earned. Participants will need to complete an application, pass a 50 question exam, evaluate the training, and then will earn the certificate. The annual fee for maintaining the credential is $40.
